Period for Reply

A SHORTENED STATUTORY PERIOD FOR REPLY IS SET TO EXPIRE 3 MONTH(S) OR THIRTY (30) DAYS, WHICHEVER IS LONGER, FROM THE MAILING DATE OF THIS COMMUNICATION.

- Extensions of time may be available under the provisions of 37 CFR 1.136(a). In no event, however, may a reply be timely filed after SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- If NO period for reply is specified above, the maximum statutory period will apply and will expire SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- Failure to reply within the set or extended period for reply will, by statute, cause the application to become ABANDONED (35 U.S.C. § 133). Any reply received by the Office later than three months after the mailing date of this communication, even if timely filed, may reduce any earned patent term adjustment. See 37 CFR 1.704(b).

Status

- 1) Responsive to communication(s) filed on 03 July 2006.
 2a) This action is FINAL. 2b) This action is non-final.

DETAILED ACTION

The Amendment filed on 03 July 2006 has been acknowledged.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. Claims 1-5 and 18-20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Silverbrook (US 6,274,056).

Silverbrook discloses the following claimed features:

Regarding claim 1, a fluid ejection device (Figures 1-3) suitable for an ink-jet printer, comprising: a substrate (Figure 3, elements 15, 16) having an orifice (4); a beam (2), disposed over the substrate (15, 16), the beam (2) having a fixed portion (right portion) and a cantilever portion (Figure 2, left portion of beading beam 2), wherein the cantilever portion is disposed over the orifice (4); and an activation pad (17), disposed between the cantilever portion of the beam and the substrate (15, 16), wherein the activation pad (17) is disposed apart from the beam (Figure 3 shows the beam 2 being separated by layer 17).

Regarding claim 2, further comprising a stopper (9), disposed on the cantilever portion of the beam (2), wherein the stopper (9) is aligned to the orifice (4) of the substrate (Figure 3).

Regarding claim 3, wherein a dimension of the stopper (9) is larger than that of the orifice (Figure 3 shows element 9 is larger than the nozzle 4).

Regarding claim 4, wherein the fixed portion of the beam (2) is a collar structure disposed on the substrate (15, 16) for supporting the cantilever portion (Figure 3).

Regarding claim 5, further comprising an encapsulation structure (20) covering the substrate (15, 16) for encapsulating the beam (2) and the activation pad (Figure 3).

Regarding claims 18-20, wherein when a voltage is applied to the activation pad (since element is a circuitry layer), the cantilever portion of the beam (2) is pulled down from an initial position toward the orifice (4) of the substrate for ejecting the fluid out of the orifice (Figures 2 and 3); and wherein when the voltage applied to the activation pad (17) is removed, the cantilever portion of the beam (2) gradually moves away from the orifice (4) (Figure 1).

Response to Arguments

3. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1-5 and 18-20 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection. The newly found reference of Silverbrook (US 6,274,056) discloses the claimed invention as detailed above.

Contact Information

4. Any inquiry concerning this communication or earlier communications from the examiner should be directed to An H. Do whose telephone number is 571-272-2143. The examiner can normally be reached on Monday-Friday (Flexible).
